Geri Ehle: Supporting the Next Generation of Physician Scientists

Fri, 2015-07-10 08:07

In August 2014, Geri Ehle became the coordinator for UCSF’s medical scientist training program, where she supports some of the brightest students in the country as they train to become future medical leaders. Her charge is to ensure students in the program are well cared for socially, emotionally and academically during their long and arduous eight years of study. READ MORE [1]
